Fund Manager comments

Echiquier Arty SRI Fund D turned in a positive monthly performance of 1.47% and of 0.26% year-to-date.

The European and US equity markets hit new all-time highs, buoyed by two main trends: the continuing fall in inflation and signs of an economic recovery. Large caps dominated, driving the indices higher and pushing small and mid caps into the background. It is important to note that the most cyclical sectors, such as banking, insurance and energy, are the main contributors to this market performance. Echiquier Arty SRI is in line with the upward trend of the main indices, but is affected by the underperformance of Mid Cap stocks, which remain largely undervalued compared with large caps. BNP Paribas and Crédit Agricole are among the best performers in the banking sector. However, our overweight in defensive stocks puts us at a disadvantage in this resolutely risk-oriented environment. On the bond market, the easing in long-term yields is benefiting high-yield, hybrid and subordinated securities, which are among the best performers. Convertible bonds are following this positive trend, supported by cyclical underlyings such as PRYSMIAN and SCHNEIDER.
