Fund Manager comments

Echiquier Major SRI Growth Europe G turned in a positive monthly performance of 5.50% and turned in a negative performance of -22.23% year-to-date.

The market is rebounding on the expectation that the FED will again ease on rate hikes from December. This rebound is driven by cyclical and long duration stocks. In this context, the fund is rebounding but less than its index. The strengthening of the defensive profile weighed this month. Many stocks rebounded strongly but are small in weighting.

There are also many publications of results, which are generally good and confirm the investment thesis. Among the best contributors are VISA and ACCENTURE, whose results and prospects are excellent. Industrial stocks such as LEGRAND, DSV and MICHELIN are recovering. The market is rediscovering ESSILOR LUXOTTICA after several years of transition following a complicated merger. Companies exposed to consumer staples such as PERNOD RICARD and L'OREAL performed less well this month. The market is concerned about the impact of inflation on purchasing power. For the moment, results show good resilience. We have continued to strengthen the defensive side of the fund this month at the expense of more cyclically exposed companies.
